

Feeling Blessed

By: Hazel Gay Lee © 2013

Dear God,

Tonight I am awakened. You stir within my soul and my innards are delighted. For within my sleep you have sent someone to talk to me. I do not know who they were, but although they were old with years, they uplifted me with life and youth. It wasn't even what they said nor what they did. Their spirit uplifted me in thee. For we sit and communed and a song sings from within me now. I am awoken with this song stirring within me.

“Oh, isn't he wonderful, wonderful, wonderful,
Isn't Jesus, my Lord, wonderful!
Eyes not seen, ears not heard, what's recorded in your word
Isn't Jesus, my Lord, wonderful!”

Oh, God, YES! He is wonderful. So are you! I am awakened so uplifted with this song filling the cavity of my soul. I lay and I worship thee. I am so moved. For it was not their words but their spirit that uplifted me! For I drew from the wells of their salvation and being and I am blessed. I knew that if you sent the ravens to feed Elijah, so you will also feed me. It doesn't matter who or what you send just as long as you feed me. Tonight I knew that you will feed me also that which is convenient for my soul. My daily bread you will feed me this day. I am not ashamed, nor will I ever be. I come before thee and I wait. In my hour of need you come and bless me and I am moved from deep within. Just knowing you is a blessing, but feeling you move as I do now is a great honor. For my eyes have not seen nor my ears heard all that you have in store for me. I know this and for this reason I continually come before thee. Tonight I bow unto thee and I am blessed. I do not return to sleep but my soul is so rejoicing in thee I cannot sleep nor do I feel I need to. I am so touched. I am so blessed. For your word is alive within me and eyes have not seen it nor ears heard it, as I have no words deep enough to speak it, but what I feel is beyond human feelings or words. Oh, if I just had the words to describe what I feel within me at this moment! All I know is that you are wonderful, wonderful, wonderful, and wonderful again! All I know is that I love thee over and over again.